Meandering
Along the Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

Following a custom of years standing Craig Bros. Department Store employees were all wearing red carnations Friday, it was the 86th birthday anniversary of Thomas H. Craig, Sr.

This beautiful way of honoring the head of one of the oldest mercantile firms in Ohio always attracts attention of customers and brings forth many felicitations.

The wildflowers, many kinds of them, are now blooming in the hill counties and in fact, wherever these little friends can find a foothold where man has not destroyed their native habitat.

It is unusually early for so many of the wildflowers to be peeping through the damp earth and crumbling leaves, but the recent warm weather has sounded a clear call to them, and they have responded by coming forth from their long and cold slumber to beautify the earth once more.

I know of countless places in the hills of Ohio where these lovely little flowers are now in full bloom. But this is another year that I will not be able to enjoy them, due to gas, tire and car conservation as result of the war.

Right now I know dog-tooth violets, purple trillium, crow's foot, Dutchman's breeches, rue anemones, hepatica, wake robin, Virginia bluebell, blood root, twin leaf and spring beauty, are in full bloom, with many other varieties of flowers poking through the ground ready to bloom within a few days.

I have never seen so many kinds of wildflowers in bloom at this time in March, and I fear for them and a great deal of the other vegetation when the colder weather that is almost certain to come, holds this area in its grip.

Anybody want a horned toad? Pvt. James Vest, stationed at Ft. Bliss, Tex., is willing to send them to Fayette County. This is part of a letter received from him the other day.

"Yesterday when we were working on our big guns, I caught a horned toad. He is about the color of the sand brier of which we have plenty."

"It is about four inches long including the tail. These toads eat ants and flies. One was found in a concrete foundation that had been built a number of years and it was still alive. You can put them in a box and they will live for a very long time, it is said for years. I thought that if someone back there cared for one I could send them one. They are non-poisonous."

And then, modestly, he said in a postscript that he earned the expert medal for the M-1 rifle, carbine, bazooka, hand grenade and sub-machine gun. He said also that he was expecting a furlough in May.

P. S. We have his address at the Record-Herald office if you want a horned toad.

DUTCH SPY CONFIRMS
NAZI SECRET WEAPON

Allies Seek Victory Before It Is Used, Claim

PORTLAND, Ore., March 30.—(AP)—A Dutch underground agent says the Nazis have a secret weapon, and Allied armies are racing for victory before it is used effectively.

Jacob Van Berkel, who hides his identity with a fictitious name, says the weapon is so "powerfully destructive it is almost inconceivable."

Allied officials know of the weapon, "a tiny gadget which could be placed in a rocket bomb," Van Berkel said in an interview yesterday, but "do not know in what form it might be launched."

"The new weapon may be used with complete effectiveness against the continental United States," he warned.

Van Berkel is here under the auspices of the Netherlands Information Bureau.

TIRE BLOW OUT FATAL

COLUMBUS, March 30.—(AP)—George T. Glover, 60, of Lima, was killed and his wife, Eva, 58, was injured seriously yesterday when their car swerved into a ditch seven miles north of New California after a tire blew out, the highway patrol reported.

YALTA SECRET
RAISES THREAT
TO PEACE PLAN

American Voting Powers, Second to None, Likely To Be Sought at Frisco

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(AP)—A secret Big Three voting ratio agreement for the proposed world peace-keeping assembly prompted a demand today for American balancing power second to none.

As now projected in the made-in-Malta pact the ratio would be 6-3-3 for the British Empire, the United States and Russia.

The demand came from Chairman Bloom (D-NY) of the House foreign affairs committee and a member of the American delegation to the San Francisco United Nations conference, which must decide the issue.

Bloom told a reporter in the wake of White House disclosure of the Crimean agreement that "by any reasoning we should have the same vote as any empire or any country in the world."

Bloom left no doubt that the American delegation will be asked to sponsor a proposal of this nature if the Yalta voting agreement is pressed at San Francisco.

The White House announced yesterday that Premier Stalin had asked for one vote for the Moscow government and one each for the Ukrainian Republic and the White Russian republic. President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill agreed to back this claim, provided the United States is given three votes also.

The British would have six seats for the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, India, New Zealand and South Africa.

While there was some disposition to discount the controversy over voting strength in an assembly that will have little more than debating powers, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) said:

"I deeply disagree with any voting proposal which would destroy the 'sovereign equality of nations' in the peace league's assembly, as previously proposed at Dumbarton Oaks," Vandenberg, too, is a delegate.

"This applies just as much to extra votes for us as well as any other nation," Vandenberg said. "The voice of the great powers will be amply protected in the council."

Effective action of the proposed league would be taken by an 11-member council and in most cases would require a unanimous vote of the five largest nations.

Disclosure of the secret agreement caused some uneasiness in Congress, where there was conjecture that possibly more far-reaching Yalta pacts remain to be made public.

An announcement that the Soviets had named Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko as head of their delegation, caused some legislators to wonder privately if Premier Stalin has marked down the San Francisco conference as only a way-station on the road to the future. Other powers are sending their foreign ministers.

PANAMA CANAL SABOTAGE
IN HINTED IN CHILE NOW

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 30.—(AP)—The newspaper La Nacion, which has important contacts with the government, declared today an attempt to destroy the Panama Canal had been disclosed by the detention of a German sabotage chief named Von Appen.

The newspaper made the assertion in a story headlined, "Shipwrecks of the sailing vessel Lautaro and the steamship Mapocho and others were the work of sabotage." It gave no specific details.

Nazis Use Terror To Keep People Fighting

LONDON, March 30.—(AP)—Nazis leaders appeared today to be resorting to a campaign of stark terror in an effort to hold the German people in line during the nation's greatest peril.

Nazi propagandists warned the Germans they would be no better than slaves if the Allies are victorious, and they threatened with dire punishment all who failed to fight to the end or cooperated with Allied authorities in occupied territory.

Despite this, reports from many sources indicated mounting chaos and despair within the Reich. Stories relayed through neutral capitals told of disorders and mutinies, attempts on the lives of top Nazis and large scale desertions from the army.

Nazi leaders themselves were reported putting the final touches on preparations for a withdrawal into the fastnesses of the Bavarian Alps, and Swiss advices said some already had fled to the German island of Mainau in Lake Constance.

The Berlin correspondent for the Berne newspaper Der Bund wrote that the German people "certainly have no cause for great hopes."

Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, the German high command's military commentator, asked in a broadcast: "Is there any sense in continuing the fight?" and then answered himself: "Our enemy wants to annihilate the entire nation and himself gives the answer—we must fight to the last."

The Berlin radio boasted that "German freedom fighters" had slain Franz Oppenhop, Allied-appointed mayor of occupied Aachen, and said another "traitor" and his whole family were killed in an explosion at Meutzenich.

The Germans said yesterday Oppenhop had been convicted by "The National Court for the maintenance of German honor and immediately sentenced to death."

The Nazi Transocean Propaganda Agency said the "execution" at Meutzenich did away with a school teacher accused of being a "traitor German mayor serving under the Allied military government."

Attacks on the lives of two Nazi leaders were reported by the Luxembourg radio, quoting "reliable Swiss sources."

SS Leader Dr. Ernest Kaltenbrunner, No. 2 Nazi under Heinrich Himmler, was reported wounded seriously during anti-Nazi clashes at Vienna.

Baldur von Schirach, former Hitler youth chief and Nazi leader at Vienna, was said to have had a narrow escape from assassination in the Austrian capital.

Attack On Ryukyus
Goes into 8th Day

Two More Islands in Philippines Invaded by Yanks While British Naval Force Revealed Operating With U. S. Fleet in Battering Road to Tokyo from Sea and Air

By LEONARD MILLMAN.

By The Associated Press
American amphibious troops landed on two more Philippine islands while American and British naval forces attacking the Ryukyu Islands carried on the longest bombardment of the Pacific War without an invasion announcement.

The Ryukyu attack, presumably in its eighth day, is the first joint operation of the U. S. and British Pacific fleets in the Western Pacific.

Presence of a powerful British carrier force was announced last night. The British contributed to a score of 13 Japanese vessels sunk, two damaged and more than 24 planes destroyed.

Warships for Protection
Radio Tokyo said a new force of 100 warships was cruising near Okinawa, in the center of the Ryukyu chain, screening a carrier fleet built around ten flat tops.

Five hundred seaborne planes raided the three southern islands of Japan for ten hours yesterday, Tokyo reported. "to support the Okinawa operation."

Broadcasts said two new task forces appeared last night and today in waters off southwestern Japan to continue the attack.

One Japanese newspaper said "the enemy comes with a strength of more than 2,000 ships of all kinds."

In the central Philippines the American division invaded tiny Caut Island, former seaplane base, and Mactan where the Japanese put the torch to the largest coconut oil refinery in the archipelago. The invasion force jumped off from nearby Cebu where other American units captured two airfields.

Reverses in China
United States Air Forces lost their most advanced airbase in northern China. A Chungking announcement said the 14th Air Force pulled out of Laohokow, 200 miles northwest of Hankow, Monday in the face of a drive by 80,000 Japanese who apparently also enveloped Nanyang, important Chinese bastion in Honan Province.

Japanese claimed five more Allied ships were sunk or damaged in the Ryukyu-Japan operation, making a total of 35.

The Navy announced loss of two U. S. craft in other actions.

The 20th Air Force confirmed a Japanese report that about 40 India-based Superforts bombed Singapore yesterday.

CANADIAN ALUMINUM
CONTRACTS PROBED

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(AP)—The senate small business committee disclosed today that it is investigating government contracts for Canadian aluminum.

Acting Chairman Wherry (R-Neb) made the announcement after Senator Cordon (R-Ore) protested to the committee that he had learned a new contract has been signed with the Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd.

"At this moment, pot lines in the United States are still down and the producing capacity is not being used," Cordon said.

Japs Getting Scared

At least four Allied task forces are operating in Japanese waters south of Japan—two of them withing carrier plane range—radio Tokyo said today, while a prominent Japanese newspaper warned that "2,000 Allied ships are in the area" and "the time for a decisive battle between Japan and America has finally come upon us."

The reported operation of American carriers three days off Kyushu lacked Allied confirmation.

Radio Tokyo claimed the task forces are "under furious attack" (Please Turn to Page Eight)

Easing of Price Curbs
On Meat Packers Looms

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(AP)—OPA's pricing policies—under attack as a cause for current food shortages—reeled today from a judicial blow and senatorial admonitions to get together with business.

Although upheld on one major contention, the agency was told by the Emergency Court of Appeals that its present ceilings, even with government subsidies, do not allow packers who produce only fresh beef to make an adequate profit or "indeed . . . to break even."

The court ruled that "processing" packer ceilings generally are fair and equitable. In contrast to non-processors, these packers turn out in addition to fresh beef such by-products as sausage, tallow and oil. They handle about 85 percent of the beef supply.

Otherwise the food picture was in a weekend dim-out, with Senate and House investigating committees resting for a resumption Monday.

The OPA was directed by the court to set aside some of its non-processor ceilings and provide an adjustment to assure a fair profit. The judgment is not effective for 30 days and meanwhile OPA may make the adjustment or appeal to the Supreme Court.

The ruling was hailed as a "great victory" by Wilbur La Rue, Jr., general counsel for the National Independent Meat Packers' Association.

In effect the court said a special subsidy of 80 cents a hundred pounds now paid to non-processors is inadequate to allow them to compete on an equal footing with processor firms.

This poses an additional headache for OPA, since a reduction of this subsidy to 30 cents is scheduled to go into effect April 1.

The change was reported in a Japanese Domei news agency dispatch.

BIG THREE CONFER
VIA CODED CABLES

LONDON, March 30.—(AP)—An abnormally large volume of transatlantic government communications— with Washington now on the sending end—stirred speculation here today that the Big Three might be discussing steps for dealing with dwindling German resistance. But the nature and portent of government communications linking Washington, London and Moscow remained a coded and closely-guarded secret.

High-placed Allied officials remained close to their telephones or within reach of their offices as Britain began observance of the happiest Easter holiday since 1939, and the attitude of watchful waiting added to the atmosphere of tense expectancy.

Bernard M. Baruch, President Roosevelt's confidant here on a secret White House mission, conferred at length with Ambassador John G. Winant. The general belief here was that Baruch's mission concerned Germany's economic future.

Russians Invade Austria And Capture Danzig; Prisoner Cages Bulge

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

By The Associated Press
The American First and Third armies drove powerfully forward today toward a junction northeast of the Ruhr that would seal off Germany's greatest and last large arsenal and up to 40,000 enemy troops among its ravaged factories.

Security blackouts hid new advances.

The First Army shot forward so fast its spearheads lost contact with headquarters. The Germans said one armored column had reached Bad Windungen, 20 miles southwest of the great rail center of Kassel, 170 miles from Berlin.

The Ninth Army broke loose overnight in a race along the northern rim of the Ruhr, bypassing most of the great industrial cities of the valley.

British Head for Ports

The British Second Army appeared to be veering northwestward toward the great ports of Hamburg, Bremen and Wilhelmshaven. The whole onrush of the 21st Army group front in the north was in high gear from the Muenster plain to Odenwald. Infantry alone tramped 18 miles forward in a day, and tanks still were running unchecked along clear roads.

On every sector, supreme headquarters said officially that advances were going well.

In 48 hours, more than 60,000 Germans have surrendered. The prized old cities of Frankfurt on the Main, Mannheim and Heidelberg have fallen with little opposition. Hundreds of lesser places have fallen.

Too Fast for News
Actual positions of vanguards of the American First, Ninth and Third armies were obscured by the news blackout which also covered the British second and Canadian First armies. The Canadians, however, cleared the Rhine fortress town of Emmerich save for snipers.

The First Army's armored drive curling around the east end of the Ruhr—the tanks clanked 55 miles over open roads from dawn to dusk yesterday—was the fastest of the war.

Infantry of the Seventh Army drove three miles east of the city of Heidelberg late yesterday, reaching Ziegelhausen by nightfall. Heidelberg (84,650) was the site of the oldest university in Germany and also of some machine shops.

As the British plunged ahead on routes which could lead to a seal-off of great German North Sea ports, the U. S. Eighth Airforce sent 1,400 heavy bombers and 900 fighters, the largest single concentration this year, against those ports—Bremen, Hamburg and Wilhelmshaven. The attack was aimed at cutting off sea-borne supplies for the Germans in the north.

Gen. Eisenhower has said loss of the Ruhr valley would render (Please Turn to Page Two)

MORE CRUTCHES AND CANES ARE COLLECTED HERE

Fletcher General Hospital Acknowledges Receipt Of Shipment

Boy Scout Troop 170 is still collecting canes and crutches for the wounded men of the armed forces who are recuperating in hospitals, and so far all that have been sent have gone to Fletcher General Hospital, at Cambridge, Ohio.

In addition to 40 canes and two pairs of crutches recently sent to Fletcher General Hospital by the troop, of which J. W. Yates is the Scoutmaster, 20 additional canes and four pairs of crutches are now ready to send, and more are being collected.

Yates is in receipt of the following letter from Lt. K. S. Piggott, adjutant at Fletcher General Hospital, in response to the canes and crutches sent to the institution:

"We thank you for your fine letter of March 19 offering to donate canes and crutches and two wheel chairs to our hospital for the wounded servicemen. We sincerely appreciate being included on your list to receive these items and gratefully accept them."

"Again we thank you for the contribution and also thank the Boy Scouts for their efforts in collecting the articles."

EASTER COMMUNION IN COUNTY PARISH

Three Churches in Methodist Parish Plan Services

Communion services at each of the three churches in the Fayette County Parish of the Methodist Church will feature Easter services, Rev. Forest M. Moon, pastor, said today.

At the Good Hope Methodist Church, a sunrise service at 6 A. M. Easter will feature Winifred Hoppes and Jean Rodgers in special numbers in addition to Rev. Moon's sermon, "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today."

At 9:30 A. M., "The Living Christ" is the sermon theme. Reception of members also will be conducted during the morning worship.

At Maple Grove Church, the morning worship and reception of members will be at 10:45 A. M. and at the New Martinsburg Church, the Easter service and reception of members will be at 7:30 P. M.

ORR TO MANAGE GREENVILLE STORE

Promotion Is Announced by Cussins & Fearn Co.

Charles Orr, who has been assistant manager at the Cussins & Fearn Store here since April of last year, has been named manager of the company's store at Greenville, it was announced Friday.

The announcement said he would leave immediately to take over his more responsible position. The manager of the Greenville store, it was said, is to go into the Navy on April 7.

Orr, who has been active in civic affairs, in the Presbyterian Church and Lions Club ever since he came to Washington C. H. a few years ago, took his training in the Cussins & Fearn store management and studied its policies under Harold McCord, manager of the store here.

Since the beginning of the war, Canadian shipyards have built about 400 vessels.

Danzig Falls to Reds

Danzig, the 10th century Baltic city where the shooting of the second World War started, has fallen to the Russians, the German high command announced today.

While the capture had not been confirmed by the Red Army, Moscow dispatches said Marshal Stalin was expected to salute the final victory at Danzig very soon.

A city of 238,000, Danzig had been under close siege since March 28, when the Third White Russian Army of Marshal Vasilievsky drove to Zoppot in the Bay of Danzig and separated the city from its rival Polish port of Gdynia, since fallen to the Russians. The Russians encircled Gdynia on March 12, when they reached the bay north of Gdynia.

Nazis Fight Bitterly

SS troops fought bitterly on the many sections of the city cut by the waterways of the Vistula estuary.

Danzig is predominantly Germanic. Hitler demanded that its status as a free city be canceled and its territory annexed to the Reich along with a "corridor" across the Polish corridor. This was the immediate cause of the conflict which broke out on September 1, 1939.

In reaching Danzig the Russians avenged the 202 gallant Poles who in September, 1939, stirred the world with their epic, seven-day stand on the Westerplatte, the Little Peninsula in Danzig Harbor

Russians in Austria

Moscow dispatches said Marshal Fedor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army had invaded Austria, stabbing into the hills just inside the frontier, and threatening momentarily to lay siege to Vienna. The Russians had seized Kapuvár, fortified Hungarian border town 43 miles southeast of Vienna, and announced an outflanking drive by other troops on the vital Bratislava Gap area.

The German high command announced that the great Baltic port of Danzig was occupied by Red army troops.

U. S. Ninth Army broke loose on the northern rim of the Ruhr Valley and raced through the night across open roads. To the north, tank-riding British and Americans lashed down roads leading toward great German port cities, their movements shrouded in secrecy.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army, which captured some 22,400 prisoners yesterday, veered once again in a dash toward middle Germany, racing to Lauterbach, 31 miles east of Giessen and 198 from Berlin. To the south, the U. S. Seventh army burst through the Odenwald on a 20-mile front bulging up to 36 miles east of the Rhine.

On all fronts some 35,000 Germans surrendered yesterday.

movement was noted behind enemy lines in the central sector area south of Bologna. There were no positional changes.

Russians under Tolbukhin, advancing on a 118-mile front, have slashed across a vital Nazi supply line to Italy, driven within 140 miles of the Italian border and 55 miles east of the Austrian mountain city of Graz, and at the southern end of their front, spearheaded within 29 miles of Yugoslavia.

This push formed the southern claw of a massive pincer movement. To the north Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's second Ukrainian army drove 17 to 25 miles west of the Hron River to the Nitra, 47 miles from Bratislava, Berlin said. The Germans said an avalanche of Russian tanks, mobile guns and motorized infantry had broken through defense lines both north and south of the Danube. Luxembourg radio said a state of emergency was proclaimed in Vienna.

Clear skies presaged new and heavy air blows against the crumbling Reich from Britain, Italy and continent bases. Berlin was struck during the night for the 37th time in 38 nights. Heavy bombers hit Brunswick yesterday. Rubble-strewn Mannheim was in U. S. Seventh army hands, and the Third army was mopping up in the Coronation City of Frankfurt-am-Main.

Duisburg was safely in Ninth army possession, and the Germans themselves have written off the great Industrial Ruhr, including its smoking cities yet to be captured—Essen, Hamm, Dortmund, Duesseldorf and Muelheim. The First army dash had left only two railways from the Ruhr

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Many of the home-front folk are laying plans for demonstrations—religious services, patriotic rallies, parades, and parties—to mark the day of German capitulation.

It certainly will be an occasion for thanksgiving and rejoicing. However, it's scarcely a moment for all-out celebration—or so it seems to me—but rather a time for re-dedicating ourselves to the completion of an unfinished task.

One wonders just what significance that great day will have for the average citizen. When we administer the coup de grace to Hitler, shall we be writing off "the war"? Or will that be just another major victory on the road to war's end? That might be an important question should be settled now.

The answer is clear enough when we stop to analyze the position. The final defeat of Hitler isn't the end of "the war." It's the end of "a war." We still have to smash the Japanese empire which stands for much the same evils that Germany stands for—militarism and barbaric aggression for conquest.

It may be that Nippon is a greater menace to humanity than Germany. For the Japanese have avowed their intention of consolidating the whole of Asia into one vast bloc. Tokyo would rule that bloc and ultimately lead it against the western world in a universal war—the horror of the Oriental races pitted against those of the Occident. Nothing should be written off as impossible after the present war of unrestrained Axis savagery.

As soon as the European conflict is finished America must throw her full military weight into the war with Japan. We must transport great forces of troops to the Orient. We must move endless convoys of supplies across the Pacific. We must send a steady stream of equipment.

This all means that the home-front must continue to give of its best.

The job of beating Japan isn't going to be easy. The Mikado's government is marshaling Nippon's population of 100,000,000 for total war. And total war is what they mean. They say they're preparing to fight for twenty years, and longer if necessary.

Death for Mikado and country means a place for them among their gods. That's the type of folk we've got to beat. To do it we and our Allies must invade their islands from the sea. We may have to comb the vast reaches of China and Manchuria, and dig 2,000,000 Jap soldiers out of their fox-holes.

Thus V-E day seems a fitting moment for dedicating ourselves anew to the task of wiping out militarism. The Japanese dealt us the foulest blow one nation can deal another. They stabbed us in the back. Our honor is involved. The little white crosses on the Pacific isles, and the wounds of our fighting men, are to be avenged.

This column suggests that we make the European V-E day a double memorable one in American history by ceremonies of re-dedication, and let the unrestrained celebration come when Japan has been dealt with. Our boys will still be dying in the Orient when European V-E day comes.

front who complained that the noise was worse than shelling, airplane crews who bailed out over Belgium, screen stars, touring civilian war manufacturers, and a strange character called "The Mouse" who shined shoes and had a brother called "The Lion of Lucerne" who shined boots.

Porky christened the room "Bedlam Gables" before he left for home in November. I shared "Chambre Sez" with Pete until the goldfish life drove me out. Then Johnny Florea of Life Magazine and Pete, held on to "Chambre Sez" during the German breakthrough although enemy panzers roved to within 400 yards and buzz bombs and shells kept away steady customers.

LIONS' GUESSES ON END OF WAR TOO OPTIMISTIC

Of 40 Who Made Predictions Only 8 Still Have Chance To Be Right

When's the war in Europe going to end?

That's the number one question now—yet a year ago the Lions Club tried to find the answer.

At a March, 1944, meeting, 40 Lions made predictions as to when they thought the war in Europe would end. To date, only eight of those predictions still have a chance of coming true.

This is the way they stand now—three for March, one for April, two for May and two for June.

The other 32 predictions long since have been dead and buried. W. L. O'Brien, president of the Lions Club, said when the predictions were made it was more a matter of curiosity than anything else. But now with the Allies closing in on Berlin, those guesses have taken on a new meaning. At each meeting of the club, O'Brien tells the Lions how many more predictions there are to go. There is nothing at stake for the man who comes the closest, O'Brien explained.

The 32 "dead" predictions run like this: in 1944, one in May, one in June, five in July, two in August, six in September, two in October, seven in November, five in December; in 1945, none in January and two in February.

O'Brien did not release the names of the men who made the predictions.

OIL STOVE ORDERED AT YATESVILLE NOW

Now on order for the Yatesville School is an oil range on which future meals served in the school's lunch room will be cooked.

The purchase of the stove was voted at a previous meeting of the Yatesville P-T-A. A report of the order was made at the Wednesday night meeting, however.

Yatesville School will be all out for the United National Clothing Collection which is slated for the month of April. School children will make the collection in Yatesville.

Barbara Summers, Mary Burr, Helen Burr and Donna Barton singing "Meet Me in St. Louis" with Mary Slager at the piano started the program. Other numbers were a recitation by LeRoy Barton; a solo by Betty Barton; a song by Billy Burr, Carl Denen, Junior Slager, Dean Barton and Danny McQuirt; a piano solo by Joe Barton; an accordion solo by Mary Slager; a piano solo by Betty Barton; a guitar duet by Donald Walston and Bobby Barker and the entire group singing one song.

Refreshments were served after the meeting in charge of Mrs. Ebon Thomas, Mrs. Green Rice and Mrs. Orville Moats.

The program chairman for the April 10 meeting is Robert Jefferson, Roscoe Whiteside and Orville Moats. Mrs. Lon Chattin is the president of the Yatesville P-T-A.

Nazi Swastika flags captured in Eschweiler

"When we thought the Nazis might overrun us, we stayed up at night trying to rub out with lemon juice signs in the flags saying 'To Hell with Hitler,'" said Florea.

"How many guys came in here last night?" Peter would sigh drowsily-eyed at 7 A. M.

"Let's count the rings in the bath tub," Florea would suggest from his twin bed. Then the two photographers would climb over late-staying guests on the floor, and ride off to the battlefield.

They put up signs saying "looting is Punishable by Death" and "Through These Portals Pass the Most Beautiful Hangovers in the World."

The war has moved up now. It is moving too fast for any such hi jinks as whiled away boredom during the winter stalemate along the Roer. Some bandlegged Belgian entertainers live in room six—but "Chambre Sez" is just a bright memory.

JUST A FRIENDLY CHAT
There are several meanings to the resurrection, but Evangelism seems to be the forgotten meaning. The resurrection of Jesus Christ means Evangelism. Jesus said, "As the Father sent me, even so I send you." Notice the action of the early disciples when they were convinced that Christ was raised from the dead. They went out and preached it everywhere. A risen Savior not only restored their hope, but it gave zeal and power to their preaching. Do you believe in a risen, glorified and saving Christ? Do you believe His words, "I am the resurrection and the life?" Do you believe that men must come to know this risen Savior to have everlasting life? If you do, then you should publish it, teach it and preach it. The climax of the resurrection was the Great Commission, "Go ye, therefore, and make disciples of all the nations." Did Christ say, "Go ye, Ministers, and make disciples of all the nations?" No! He said, "Go ye," meaning one and all that believe—teach, preach and baptize. Every Christian by nature is a disciple, every disciple is an Evangelist. The resurrection means evangelism for the pulpit, not only for the pulpit but for the pew as well—for each and every believer. Let the redeemed of the Lord speak. The disciples of A. D. 30 went out believing, singing and preaching, "Christ is risen." What will be the record of the disciples in 1945?

Some Real Help Easily Given

Fayette County people are asked to do a very little thing which may be a big help to some people greatly in need.

In almost every home various members of families have some old clothes, still usable, which have been put back with the idea that maybe sometime they can be used for something, and seldom ever are. Frequently these old suits, old coats, even old shoes, can still give a lot of service to people in devastated countries who have practically nothing to wear except the torn or ragged clothes on their backs. Certainly they can do more good for these people than to be thrown away during some house cleaning period.

It wouldn't be a sacrifice to any of us who have some old clothes we probably will never make any use of, to send them to those who would welcome them.

In 1940 and 1941 the powerful armies of Germany and Japan swept like a swarm of locusts through Europe and the Orient, devouring whatever of value lay in their path. And according to available evidence, their pillage of textiles and clothing was particularly complete.

The output of looms and mills in occupied countries was appropriated. Many persons, especially those with garments of some value, were left only what they were wearing. The passing years have reduced the great majority of people in the Balkans, Poland, Hungary and western Russia, in France, Belgium and Holland, and in the Philippines to a uniformly threadbare state.

Relief workers tell stories of families in Belgium and France which have only one shirt among all the members of both sexes. In Yugoslavia a death notice attracts crowds of shivering people offering fantastic prices for the clothing of the deceased. In Belgrade a woman offered "ample reward" for an old patched shoe that she had lost. From his inspection tour of Leyte, Brig-Gen. Carlos P. Romulo reported that "the greatest need is clothing."

Liberation of many occupied lands has not remedied this situation, but it has made large-scale assistance possible. And so, during the month of April, the people of the United States will be asked to contribute 150,000,000 pounds of used and usable clothing for the destitute men, women and children of war-ravaged countries of Europe and Asia.

The collection will be made through the United National Clothing Collection, of which Henry J. Kaiser is chairman. The organization is just what the name implies—united in that it has the sponsorship and assistance of almost every foreign relief group in this country and many of our own charitable associations; national, in that it will function in this and every other community of the nation.

The collected apparel will be distributed, without cost or discrimination, to restore health and decency and self-respect to a vast number of the world's unfortunate. The latest compilation of reports indicates that in liberated Europe alone there are 30,000,000 almost literally naked and 125,000,000 others in urgent need of clothes, shoes and bedding. So the goal is only for minimal needs.

Throughout the year, Americans have responded to emergencies affecting their own or other people in an immediate, warm-hearted way that has made their generosity truly traditional. It is incredible that they should not respond with the same generosity to help relieve the victims of history's greatest disaster.

Bread and Fingerprints

It is not only interesting, but highly satisfying, for Americans these days to read the war news from Cologne and adjacent regions. Instead of the supermen who were lately rejoicing in the seemingly successful crime of the Hitler gangsters, there are only thousands of Germans standing patiently in the lines of the American-occupied area, "waiting to sign registration blanks and be fingerprinted."

So have the mighty fallen. And their greatest fear, says a correspondent, is that Hitler and his outfit will turn military weapons against them, as punishment for yielding to the Allies.

Doubtless there will still be bitter fighting and delay in many areas. The Nazi leaders, like Mac Beth, are now "sunk so deep in crime" that apparently they must now continue their evil war as long as they have power to fight.

But the rank and file of the German armies will hardly continue a hopeless fight. Most of them may fall away as soon as they can safely do so, and find their way home to see how their families have fared, and seek jobs or tackle their spring plowing.

Lucky will they be if, after all their great adventures and visions of world power, they can find food to eat, or grain to sow, or tools for working. The Nazi plague has stripped their country bare, and they must start all over again probably to a great extent with what they can beg from their conquerors.

The Various Causes of Pain in the Lower Back

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

PAIN in the lower part of the back can be produced by injury to the muscles, nerves, joints of the spine and even by emotional upsets.

One of the common causes is a condition known as protrusion of the nucleus of an intervertebral disc. These intervertebral discs are made up of cartilage between the bones of the spine. The pain in this condition usually passes into the buttock, thigh, leg and foot. The pain in the lower part of the back rarely causes as much trouble as the pain in the legs. Coughing or sneezing usually tends to make the pain worse.

As a rule, the condition develops after a fall, a jump or trying to lift some heavy object. An important sign of this condition is relief from the symptoms which may occur from time to time, only to reappear. Just why this happens is not definitely known, but it is thought that the swelling of the tissues may become less at intervals and thus the pressure on the nerves is relieved.

Another test for the condition is made by having the patient lie on his back with his leg straight. This straightened leg can only be raised at an angle of 10 to 15 degrees when a protruded disc is present.

As a general rule, it is possible to make a diagnosis of protrusion of the nucleus of an intervertebral disc on the basis of the symptoms which occur. X-rays are helpful in some instances.

Once a diagnosis is made, the treatment consists of an operation for correcting the disorder. In practically all instances, these operations can be carried out successfully.

Another cause for low back pain which passes into the legs is inflammation of the sciatic nerve or sciatic neuritis.

Just what produces these inflammations has not yet been definitely determined. The treatment in such instances consists in the use of cold compresses over the painful areas. Heat would seem to make the pain worse. An effort should also be made to get rid of infections in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses or elsewhere in the body. B-complex vitamins, when administered in large doses, seem to have good effects in some cases.

Pain in the lower part of the back and in the legs is a most uncomfortable disorder. A careful search should be made to determine what is producing it, whereupon effective treatment may be employed.

Tomorrow, Dr. Bundesen will discuss "Sulfonamides in Prevention of Epidemics."

"THE DEVIL'S WEDGE."

(An Old Fable Revised)

Have you heard the fabled story of the well-worn Devil's wedge? If you have, it's worth repeating; pass it on from age to age!

Once upon a time, 'tis stated, Satan quickly announced he was going out of business—all the past he had renounced—and at one great public auction he would sell his stock of tools. (Some, no doubt, would buy them gladly, for this world has many fools!) On the evening of the auction people came and saw, displayed, many vices we could mention—all the Devil's stock in trade. There was malice, there was envy, jealousy and hatred too; sensuality and anger—other vices not a few. And apart from all the others lay a large wedge-shaped device with a placard stating plainly what seemed a most outrageous price.

"This wedge is called 'discouragement,'" said Satan with a bow. "'Tis worth more than all else I have, I hate to sell it now. I use it more than all the rest—it is well worn, you see—and few there are who really know the thing belongs to me. Can I but enter this great wedge within the consciousness of man,

'twill drive him to these other things and frustrate his Maker's plan."

The Devil never sold his wedge; the price was far too high; he kept it and is using it as the centuries roll by.

For every bite and sting and poison man an antidote has found. There's cure for every evil; there is healing for each wound. God has given "balm in Gilead," myrrh as well as aloe, sent, and while Satan's power is mighty there's a power omnipotent.

Once a man, blue and discouraged, brooding o'er his cheerless lot, found a cause for being grateful; his discouragement forgot. An unexpected act of kindness came to him upon that day, and as he thought the matter over why, his trouble passed away. And he smiled as he reflected grateful thoughts had wrought the change, and a peace came stealing o'er him that to him seemed very strange. But again the demon gripped him stronger than it had before! and no friend was near to help him, and no kind act to ponder o'er. But knowing well that mental action served his purpose once before, he began to count his blessings (he had them by the score). Soon results became apparent; soon the dark clouds rolled away. # HELEN COMES HOME

by Watkins E. Wright

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

WHEN PAUL was gone Philip looked at Helen. "Take care of yourself, darling," he said.

"I will," said Helen. "I wish there was room for three. It would be fun."

Paul came back. He and Philip, with Helen's help, got the plane around back of the barn, where there was a long stretch of cleared hard ground. He helped Helen in and then climbed in himself. He leaned out and waved.

"We'll come down to your level a bit later," he laughed.

Philip watched them take off and then he slowly walked back to join Zoe. All of a sudden he felt depressed. There was something fascinating about Paul Wentworth—or rather he could understand the man being fascinating to a girl. He was a decidedly dangerous rival in any man's language.

"It's impossible to keep Paul out of that plane," Zoe said when he walked out upon the porch. "He'd sleep in it if he could."

"I rather imagine flying is something that gets in one's blood," said Philip.

"You've never flown?"

"Only as a passenger."

Zoe relaxed in one of the modernistic pieces that passed as a chair, while Philip wondered how she could relax. She said: "I've flown as a passenger, but only in a transcontinental plane. I'm scared to death of going up in that little thing of Paul's."

"It looks safe enough," said Philip. "And he's an experienced pilot."

"I know, but it always looks to me like it's wobbling," Zoe lit a fresh cigarette. "Anyway, if he likes it, he likes it—and there's nothing I can do about it. I only hope Helen will be free to fly with him now and then and learn to help him with the photographing."

Philip stepped to the edge of the porch and leaned out of one of the sliding glass panels. "There they go now!" he said. "High over the pines."

Zoe said nothing. Nor did she bother to look up. Instead she watched Philip. There was something oddly charming about the rugged type of man, she thought, like Mike Waterman and Philip Brownell. They made a woman feel safe—secure. Not that she didn't feel that way with Paul—she did. Only Paul had so many outside interests. And there were times when she had the horrible feeling that he loved the land more than he loved her—that and the plane in which he was now soaring around up there with Helen Miller.

It was difficult to talk above the sound of the plane, but as they flew high above the pines—so high that the shore line of the state was visible, as well as a point where ocean met the horizon—Paul called back now and then to Helen.

"I'm going to follow the section where the pipe line's being laid," he said. "We'll photograph it some day."

"Yes," was all Helen could manage.

Later Paul said: "Look down. There's the enlarged Miller mill—just below!"

Helen looked. "Very impressive!" she said.

They flew for half an hour, far out from Lakeville, high above Lakeville and on over the county seat. Presently it began to grow chilly.

"Cold?" said Paul.

"A little," Helen replied.

"We'll hit it for home then."

They flew to a higher altitude. Paul did a graceful turn and presently they were coming down—down—down. The runway was just below. The landing gear went into place. Lower and lower—and then with the slightest of bumps they were on terra firma again.

"Have fun?" Paul said, when the engine was shut off.

"Oh, I did!" said Helen. "It was like old times!"

They sat in the plane, made no move to get out. "You'll fly with me again, won't you?" Paul asked. "If I can find the time," said Helen, knowing full well that she would find the time. "Tell me about your work—with the plane, I mean—your duties as a member of the C.A.S."

Paul told her how at times members of the Civilian Air Patrol flew far out over the ocean, on the lookout for submarines or enemy vessels. Like guardian angels, he said, flying over land and sea in the vicinity of their homes, keeping watch, reporting anything that looked in the least suspicious. Then he showed her the new gadgets about which he had spoken, which included a sending set.

"We can radio messages back to headquarters," he said. "Coast Guard stations are notified if there is anything up that doesn't look just right."

"And what about the photographic paraphernalia you were talking about?" said Helen.

"That's my own idea," said Paul. "You see, Helen, I haven't altogether given up the idea of getting in—I mean, being something besides a raiser of something to eat."

"You mean you may enlist yet?"

"Yes, I've got it in the back of my mind. After the crops are all in and all stored, ready for use by those who need them, I see no reason why I couldn't turn the plantation over to my overseer, and go off to war."

"You want to be in it very badly, don't you?" said Helen.

"What able-bodied man doesn't?"

"But what has the photograph business got to do with it?"

"I want to be in a position to do some aerial photographic work—fly over enemy holdings, take pictures, study them, find vulnerable spots," Paul smiled at her. "And that's where you come in."

"I?"

"Yes, you can help me. It's like this, Helen. I want to fly around, take pictures of our own defense area, locate weak points as well as strong ones, then put them together—like putting a jigsaw puzzle together, you know."

"Make a sort of map, you mean?"

"That's the idea exactly," said

Paul. "It'll be interesting work, and while we're doing it I can be learning a lot."

"What do I do? Handle the machine while you take pictures?"

"Yes."

"But I don't know enough about flying for that, I'm afraid. After all, I've done very little actual flying myself."

"You can learn. A few flights with me, practicing, and you'll be okay," Paul watched the girl there in the plane with him, saw the look of uncertainty upon her face. "It's for your country, you know," he said.

"You needn't try selling me the old patriotic idea," Helen said. "What I'm hesitating about is my work with Aunt Minerva. That is important, too. That's work to help the country also."

"Of course," said Paul. "But you can squeeze in a flight or two a week. You know you can."

"All right," said Helen, making her decision all at once. "We'll arrange a sort of schedule later. Let's go join the others now."

Paul got out and took her hand as she stepped out upon one of the wings. Then he swung her to the ground. He held her a moment, overwhelmingly tempted to kiss her. Helen drew away. She felt an overwhelming temptation to let him kiss her.

"Paul," she said, "let's get one thing straight here and now."

"Get what straight?" said Paul.

"Our association must be kept strictly on a basis of friendship. No sentiment, no nonsense."

"Yes," said Paul, gazing directly into her eyes.

"You made your choice. That choice was Zoe, so stick to her! Don't think I'm going to be party to any marital mix-up."

"Yes'm," Paul said again. Then, seriously, he said: "There's one thing I'm going to tell you, though, Helen. I'm beginning to wonder if I didn't make the wrong choice. Zoe's sweet and all that—she swept me off my feet—but now—"

"Please, Paul," Helen cut in. "Let's not discuss it."

"I must discuss it," said Paul. "There's something I've got to get off my chest." He caught Helen's hand as she started to walk away. "When Zoe came to town she seemed sort of—of different. I hadn't met anyone like her, and I got to thinking that maybe propriety had a lot to do with my feeling for you. I sort of wanted to know a new, exciting girl—maybe to see how I reacted. Anyway, almost before I knew it, I was all involved. Zoe took a lot for granted—and I lost my head."

Helen studied him for a moment. "Well," she said, "do you feel better now you've gotten it off your chest?"

"I do," said Paul.

"That's fine," Helen said with just a touch of sarcasm. "Come on, it's getting late. Philip and I must be on our way."

Paul said: "You do understand, don't you, Helen?"

"I think I do," she said. "If it means anything."

"It does! It means a lot." (To Be Continued)

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

By SIGRID ARNE

(Substituting for Jack Stinnett, who is ill)

WASHINGTON — One of the main bouts when the United Nations gather at San Francisco April 25 will be this:

The need to assure the small nations that they won't be at the mercy of the big powers, versus the fact that the big powers must be left free enough to take swift action if war threatens.

The difficulty lies in the fact that the more nations permitted to debate, the longer the debate—and the longer it will be before the world organization can "call out the fire department."

The debates will take place (according to the Dumbarton Oaks agreement) in an 11-member Council which will be the inner sanctum of the world organization. Every member nation can belong to the organization's Assembly but it doesn't have much actual power.

The Council will decide when a nation is threatening the peace and what action should be taken to quell the troublemaker. It will actually have about the same duties that a combination police-chief and police-judge would have in your home town.

At this writing, 11 nations will sit on the Council. Permanent seats will go to the United States, the United Kingdom, the U. S. S. R., France and China. That leaves six seats for the rest of the nations to scrap over.

Nailing one of those seats will be their one chance to sit in where policy is written.

The scrap for those six rotating seats on the Council (they're handed out for two-year terms) is expected to be as exciting as Jersey City on election night, and with about the same amount of button-holing and log-rolling.

There's already a widespread move to get more power for the small nations. These nations have a natural fear that the big powers might gang up on them and vote some action that would benefit the big nations at the expense of the small.

The Netherlands stepped up first with a printed pamphlet of suggestions sent to the Yalta conference, in which she pointed out that "the smaller nations of Europe comprise about 150 millions, and those of Latin America another 100 million—no inconsiderable numbers with a right to the pursuit of freedom from fear equal to that of great powers."

She pointed out that all the Big Five would need to put over big power politics (except on a vote to use force on an aggressor, which must be unanimous) would be the vote of one small nation—to get a majority vote on that council of 11 nations. She wanted the charter that will be written at San Francisco to include this provision: that the Council can take action only when at least three small nations vote "yes."

At Yalta the Big Three met her request part way. It is now proposed that Council action be taken by a "majority" of seven, which means that where the Big Five are agreed at least two small nations must vote with them.

VETERANS' GUIDE

BY MAJOR THOMAS M. NIAL

Discussion in Washington concerning future compulsory military training seems to favor some plan. But what plan?

Of course, there are some who argue we should wait until this war ends—we'll be able to judge and act more calmly. But others contend that the calm is likely to develop opposition to any plan—with war behind us it may seem that no war can be ahead—and we'll drop our guard. Strike while the iron hasn't had time to cool off. But how shall we strike?

Circles opposing the one year training plan advance three arguments. I cited two of these in my previous article—(1) that our federal money should be spent only to build military and naval power and respect for us, but that one year of training for 18 year olds would, to use up the time, run too much to education—a costly system and not a federal function at all, and (2) that if the year's training were limited as it should be, to military or naval training, then 18 year olds would learn entirely too much of the kind of warfare which would be obsolete should war come ten or more years later.

VETERANS GET INFORMATION ON FARM LOANS

A. B. McDonald New Member Of Committee; Nisley Heads Another Group

A. B. McDonald, is the fourth member of the Fayette County Veterans' Agricultural Loan Certifying Committee, C. E. Copeland, Farm Security supervisor for this area, announced today.

The purpose of the committee is to certify to the Veterans' Administration all application for agricultural loan guarantees under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act—the GI BILL of Rights, Copeland explained.

McDonald, a veteran of World War I, is in touch with farm problems as owner of a grain elevator here. He also is a member of the American Legion and the Grain and Feed Dealers' Association.

Serving with him are Russell C. Beatty of Greenfield, Marvin Stockwell of Jeffersonville and Mrs. Carsie J. Garringer of Washington C. H. The committee is to operate under the supervision of the Farm Security Administration with Copeland as secretary.

McDonald explained his instruction implicitly stated the committee served only as a "recommending body" and that the actual administration of the GI bill remained in the hands of the Veterans' Administration. The returned veteran who wants benefits of the agricultural provisions of the act must take several steps before their applications come before the certifying committee.

"The first and most important step which a veteran must take is to locate the property which he wants to buy and find a lender who will give the needed credit," McDonald said.

The newly appointed County Agricultural Advisory Committee, sponsored by the extension service and organized here by W. W. Montgomery, county agent, will know of available farms and will be able to suggest credit sources and give the veterans much other valuable information, McDonald said.

The committee which Montgomery named is: Ralph Nisley, chairman, Chester Jones, secretary, Robert Case, Virtus Kruse, Leroy Booco, Homer Wilson, Wilbur Allemang, Lewis Parret, Robert Cockerill, Loren Hynes, Dean Britton and A. F. Ervin.

"The lender and the veteran both sign an application for a loan guarantee and send it to the Veterans' Administration to determine the eligibility of the veteran. The act says that a veteran must have received a discharge other than dishonorable, have served a minimum of 90 days in the armed forces of the United States after September 16, 1940, or have been given a discharge as a result of service-induced disability regardless of the period served."

"If the loan guarantee is for the purchase of real estate, it must be appraised by an approved appraiser. After the appraisal or immediately in the case of chattel loan guarantees, the application is forwarded to our certifying committee," McDonald said.

He added that his committee certified to the Veterans' Administration whether in their opinion the loan would be used for the purpose planned; the proposed farming venture had a reasonable chance of success and whether they believed the veteran would be capable because of training or experience to carry out the proposed farming program. The committee's certification,

Carle-Backenstoe Vows Exchanged in California Monday, March 26

Wedding Dinner Served at Roosevelt Hotel And Open House Follows; Fifty Guests Present at Dinner

Wearing a wedding gown of imported egg shell brocaded satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, and bustle effect ending in a full train, Miss Marjorie Carle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carle, 14114 Dickens Street, Van Nuys, Calif., was united in marriage to Mr. Hughey Backenstoe, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hughey Backenstoe, Sr., of this city.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the Hollywood Methodist Church Monday afternoon, March 26, at one o'clock. Officiating was the Rev. Dr. Phillips.

The church was filled to capacity with friends of the couple, and a fifteen minute program of nuptial music was heard. The church organist played, "I Love You Truly," "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and "Perfect Day." The church and altar was profusely decorated with palms, Easter lilies and a gorgeous arrangement of varied spring flowers, flanked by tall ten-branch candelabras.

As the strains of the "Wedding March" from Lohengrin were sounded, the bride party entered the church. Miss Carle was given in marriage by her father and was preceded to the altar by Miss Marcine Lamont, maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Garland and Miss Flavia Morgan, who wore peach and yellow satin floor length gowns fashioned with overskirts of net and low necklines. Each wore a cap of Dutch lace in matching colors and carried contrasting arm bouquets. The maid of honor was dressed in beige net fashioned identically to that of the bridesmaids. She wore a harmonizing Dutch lace cap and carried an arm bouquet.

The bride wore a double finger tip veil trimmed with French imported lace and carried a bridal bouquet which was centered with a mass of white gardenias. White streamers extended to the floor.

Mr. Backenstoe was attended by Warren Pearl of New York, who performed the duties of best man. The bride's mother was dressed in a printed crepe covered with green rhinestones and had green accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of roses. Mrs. Backenstoe, Sr., wore a navy blue frock with navy and white accessories. A corsage of pink roses completed her ensemble.

Immediately following the ceremony and the taking of pictures for leading musical magazines, a wedding dinner followed at the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood, which was attended by fifty guests. The bride table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Flanking this were crystal candelholders. A four-course turkey dinner was served.

Open house followed at the Carle residence in Van Nuys, when motion pictures of the guests were taken. The new Mrs. Backenstoe changed to a smartly tailored black suit and donned a black gabardine coat. Black and white accessories and a spring flower hat completed her going-away ensemble.

After a short wedding trip, the bride and bridegroom returned to Hollywood where Mr. Backenstoe has rejoined the Frankie Carle Orchestra which is playing a six weeks' engagement at the Palladium.

Mrs. Backenstoe is a graduate of the University of Southern California and has studied voice with leading teachers in California and New York. She has appeared with several leading bands as vocalist. Friends of the bridegroom here are extending their best wishes and felicitations to the newlyweds in California.

Maple Grove WSCS. Maple Grove WSCS members met for an all-day session at the home of Mrs. Charles Clifton, and the meeting was highlighted when a covered dish luncheon was served. A crystal water-garden of iris centered the lace cloth covered serving table, and the informal hour was one of great enjoyment for the fourteen members and several guests attending.

Mrs. F. M. Moon opened the session by giving devotionals, then the group sang a hymn, "A Prayer" was the title of the vocal solo rendered by Mrs. Moon.

The afternoon was devoted to completing a comfort to be sent to an European refugee family and plans were made to contribute other articles during the current drive for clothing the month of April.

SACRIFICE

In retrospect I see,
The face of my Lord, in agony
Upon the cross of Calvary.

Through pain racked lips,
Of ashen hue,
I seem to hear him pleading too:
Father, forgive: They know not
What they do.

Through intense suffering and pain,
He gave his life, but not in vain,
That you and I might live again.

BRICKER COMES FOR SCOTTISH RITE BANQUET

Annual Meeting Slated for Monday at Country Club With 100 Expected

Members of the Scottish Rite in Fayette County are completing plans and looking forward to a banquet with John W. Bricker, former Ohio governor and 1944 Republican candidate for vice president, and officers of the Fraternal Relations committee of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of the Valley of Columbus among the many honor guests at the Country Club Monday at 6:30 P. M.

John W. Bricker

Bricker, himself an active 33rd degree Mason, will be the most eminent among more than 100 expected, Belford Carpenter, 33rd degree Mason and a director of the Fayette County committee, said. Bricker represents the entire Valley of Columbus district in the Supreme Council of Ancient and Exalted Scottish Rite Masons in the Northern Jurisdiction of North America and also is active in consistory degrees, playing an important part in the 32nd degree.

Besides the group expected from Columbus, the presiding officers of the York Rite Masons here—Webber French, Stanley Paxson and Omar Sturgeon—also will be guests.

From Columbus will come Allen W. Williams, Past Thrice Potent Master, lodge of Perfection and past potentate of Aladdin Shrine Temple; Robert H. Pausch, Thrice Potent Master, lodge of Perfection and past eminent Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of Ohio; Henry Howe, deputy master; Judge Cecil J. Randall, Sovereign Prince of the Franklin Council; Judge Roy L. Wildermuth, High Priest of the Franklin Council; David B. Sharp, Most Wise Master of the Columbus Chapter of Rose Croix and present Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of F and AM of Ohio; Burleigh E. Cartmell, Senior Warden and superintendent of the Masonic Home in Springfield; John E. Powell, commander in chief of the Scioto Consistory; Chester C. Cook, first lieutenant commander; George R. Shoedinger, second lieutenant commander and past Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter of Ohio; Frank Lauterbach, music director of the Scottish Rite Choir; Robert W. Taylor, secretary of the Scottish Rite; and L. Ewing Jones, chairman of the fraternal relations committee. All the officials are 33rd degree Masons.

With Bricker invited to the Monday banquet the five-county Scottish Rite meeting in July, 1942, was recalled when Bricker, then Ohio's governor, visited here.

"This is a wonderful opportunity to meet and get acquainted with a fine group of Masons and to meet informally, the officers who administer Masonic affairs at Columbus," it is pointed out.

The banquet committee is Stanley Schneider, chairman, C. R. Philhower, Herbert Clickner, Clifford Hughes, Robert Terhune and Glen Bright. Other committees are: invitation, John Leland, chairman, Colin C. Campbell, Belford Carpenter, reception, William Campbell, chairman, Colin Campbell, Ed Bush, John Leland, Otis B. Core, John Weade, Wert Shoop, Roy Simons, finance committee, Colin C. Campbell, chairman, A. W. Duff, Glenn Woodmansee and John Leland and the Fayette County Fraternal Relations Committee, John Leland, Colin C. Campbell and Belford Carpenter, chairman.

Tuneful melodies, lovely girls, lavish costumes, lush scenery and tantalizing dance steps mark the production numbers of Columbia Pictures' dramatic, Technicolor musical, "Tonight and Every Night," currently starring Rita Hayworth with Janet Blair and Lee Bowman at the State Theater, Sunday. The colorful story is about a troupe of glamorous London show folk who heroically keep their theater open for the entertainment of servicemen in face of the worst blitz the Jerries can bring. Also on the same program is "The Mat Maulers," also color cartoon "Lucky Lulu".

Suffers A Severe Fall

Friday evening while enjoying the sunshine on his front porch, Mr. Samuel McGuire started into his home on Stockton Avenue, and suffered a severe fall, fracturing his hip.

He was taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Irene Johnson near Hillsboro for care until he improves.

Entertained To Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Johnson and son, Earl, James Pinkerton and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Fowler were Monday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barlow in Port William.

Attend Lazarus Tea Party

Those from a distance attending the funeral services for Norman Kiger, Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. James Kiger, of Port William, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Fields, committee. All the officials are 33rd degree Masons.

With Bricker invited to the Monday banquet the five-county Scottish Rite meeting in July, 1942, was recalled when Bricker, then Ohio's governor, visited here.

"This is a wonderful opportunity to meet and get acquainted with a fine group of Masons and to meet informally, the officers who administer Masonic affairs at Columbus," it is pointed out.

The banquet committee is Stanley Schneider, chairman, C. R. Philhower, Herbert Clickner, Clifford Hughes, Robert Terhune and Glen Bright. Other committees are: invitation, John Leland, chairman, Colin C. Campbell, Belford Carpenter, reception, William Campbell, chairman, Colin Campbell, Ed Bush, John Leland, Otis B. Circle 3, W. S. C. S.
Mrs. Robert Crane welcomed more than thirty members and guests of Circle 3, Womans Society of Christian Service to her home, Monday evening for their March meeting. Included as guests were Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Williams and Mrs. Lewis Wilson.

Miss Hazel Eckle led the devotional period.
The playlet, "What Choice Shall I Make?" was well rendered by the following cast of characters: Mrs. George J. Gray, as Mrs. Bascomb; Mrs. Harry F. Erick, as Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Fred H. Bennett, as Mrs. Peters. This playlet was given in two acts and portrayed the work of the Womans Society of Christian Service.

The Hostess committee was composed of Mrs. Henry Mercer, Mrs. Herman Nace, Mrs. Chester Beverly and Mrs. Guy Taylor, who served delicious chicken sandwiches with a salad course and coffee.

Daughters of Wesley
The Daughters of Wesley, Methodist S. S. Class were welcomed to the home of Mrs. Naomi Thompson, for their March meeting.

The president, Mrs. J. C. Burnett presided and the meeting opened with their theme song, "Revive Us Again" and "Blessed Be the Name" with the hostess at the piano.

Devotions were led by Mrs. George Gray, who read from the 20th Chapter of John, with prayer by Mrs. J. C. Williams. Easter quotations were given in response to roll call.

A number of visits were reported made to those who are ill. Easter greetings will be sent to the shut-ins.

In the absence of Mrs. F. G. Chance, program leader, Mrs. Burnett acted and two interesting contests were enjoyed. Readings appropriate for Easter were given by Mrs. Lon Rhonemus and Mrs. David Morris. A tempting salad course was served by the hostess during a pleasant social hour.

Mothers' Club Meets
The Sabina Mothers' Club met at the School Building Tuesday for their regular meeting with a large number in attendance.

The program committee, Mrs. Everett C. Waddell and Mrs. V. B. Smith had invited the 8th grade to furnish the entertainment.

Coach Willard Henry is their sponsor and the program opened with a piano solo, "Barcarole," by Esther Yarger.

A one act play, "Her First Date" was presented by an excellent cast of characters, that proved most amusing and entertaining.

This was followed by the regular business hour with the president, Mrs. R. L. Littleton presiding.

The club voted to give $10 to the Red Cross Fund.

The Junior-Senior Banquet was discussed and the date set for April 20th with Mrs. Raymond W. Cline and Mrs. F. Clarence Chance as co-chairman.

Mrs. L. V. Runyan and Mrs. Hubert Shely were named as program committee for the next meeting which will be held one week earlier on April 10th.

Sells Home
Mr. and Mrs. Willard Henry sold their home on South Howard Street this week to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Crouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry will move to their country home in the late spring.

Oklahoma Aggies Win NCAA Cage Title

By ORLO ROBERTSON
NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—After 18 years a team coached by 41-year-old Hank Iba has reached the pinnacle in basketball. Iba's Oklahoma Aggies capped their NCAA championship with a 52-44 victory over De Paul, national invitation tournament winners, in a Red Cross game at Madison Square Garden last night.

As mentor at Classen High School of Oklahoma City, Iba sent his boys to the finals of the national championship in 1929 only to lose to Athens, Aex. One of his five at Maryville College in Missouri lost to the Wichita Henrys. Last night's triumph was achieved before 18,158 fans, who contributed more than $30,000 to the Red Cross.

The game was expected to be a battle of basketball's top big men—the Aggies' seven-foot Bob Kurland and De Paul's six-foot nine-inch George Mikan. But Mikan fouled out after 14 minutes of play and Iba assigned Kurland to almost a ball-retrieving and play-making job in the last half.

W. Taylor telegraphed the operators and the miners. The board acted within an hour after receiving formal certification of the dispute from Secretary of Labor Perkins, who announced last night she was sending the dispute to the WLB after operators rejected her compromise plan.

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—Lou Nova, who used to turn over and stand on his head in his dressing room, has turned over a new leaf and as a symbol is wearing an "iron" hat like Manager James J. Johnston's. Even the experts who made Miner Joe Baski a favorite to lick Nova tonight began back-peddaling when they heard that Triple J Planned to work in Lou's corner. They figured Jimmy might revive some of the stuff Nova had when he licked Max Baer and Tommy Farr. When DePaul's basketballers faced an all-star team in a benefit game for Vaughan General Hospital last fall, George Mikan had to face seven-foot Bob Kurland of the Oklahoma Aggies, Don Otten (6-11 2-2) of Bowling Green and Bill Henry (6-11) of Rice in one game. The experience didn't help him much against Kurland last night when he fouled out in less than 15 minutes.

Melvin Boys Win 2 from Mt. Sterling

The lowly Melvin Stone Crushers took two from under the noses of the Mt. Sterling Keglers, leaders of the Men's Industrial League, in their Thursday night match on the Main Street alleys. The first two games were chalked up to the Melvins and the last went to the Mt. Sterlingers. Hoff's Marketiers lost the end game to Slagle-Kirk, but to Warner, of the Marketiers, went the glory of the evening for he rolled a juicy 244 in the second game. The game score was the nearest turned in at the alleys for a long time. Another see-saw affair was the Pennington's Bakers-Ring's contest. The Ringers tallied a win in the first and last tilts while the Bakers walked off with the second game.

NEW FACES IN LINEUP FOR REDS

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 30.—(AP)—If the National League got under way today here's the ball club that would represent the Cincinnati Reds. It's a pretty fair country ball club—but don't ask what country. The pitching would be done by Bucky Walters. But Arnold Carter would stand by. These are the only members of last year's pitching staff on hand at training quarters here. Other hurlers in camp, in the order that Manager Bill McKechnie considers their importance, are: Howard Fox, Bob Ferguson, Guy Bush, Boom Boom Beck and Hod Lisenbee. The latter three, ages 41, 39 and 44, respectively, are considered on the same plane—2 World War I Jenny, no doubt.

Flop of 1944 May Be Star Of Red Sox

NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—Rex Cecil, who proved a disappointment after costing the Boston Red Sox $25,000 last year, might yet pay dividends. The former San Diego pitching sensation, who was expected to take the place of Tex Hughson but could win only four out of nine starts, hurled brilliantly yesterday as the Red Sox downed the New York Yankees 12-6. Cecil held the Yankees to two hits in five scoreless frames and struck out five batters. Manager Joe Cronin nominated Joe Wood, Jr., and Otis Clark to hurl against the Yankees today. Shortstop Skeeter Newsome joined the Sox squad.

ALL-STAR CAGE TEAM

NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—The Oklahoma Aggies, holders of the National Mythical Basketball championship, and New York University each land two players today on an all-star team of 10 men selected after the tournament play in Madison Square Garden. After consulting many leading coaches, the Associated Press placed the Aggies' seven-foot Bob Kurland on the first team and Cecil Hankins at forward on the second five. New York University won one of the guard positions on the first team with Frank Mangiapane and one of the forward spots on the second with Al Grenier.

GOVERNMENT SEIZURE OF MINES IN OFFING AS AGREEMENT FAILS

The board was expected to propose that the present contract be extended, with any eventual wage adjustments to be retroactive. This, however, is a point to which the operators previously have objected vigorously. The labor secretary yesterday suggested a contract which John L. Lewis grabbed up in behalf of his United Mine Workers. Miss Perkins then turned to the operators, but the operators protested the proposal would cost $180,000,000 a year, add $9.48 a week to the average miner's pay and 30 cents to the cost of a ton of coal "without adding a lump to the output."

NEWS OF WAR'S END TO COME FROM 'IKE'

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson indicated today that General Eisenhower will give out the first news on the cessation of hostilities in Europe. In reply to a news conference query, Stimson said the War Department will be prepared to "furnish supplemental information to that which emanates from the theater."

STATE OFFICER SPEAKS AT JR. QUAM BANQUET

George Shelling, state past councillor of the Jr. QUAM, is to be the speaker at the quarterly banquet here Friday at 7 P. M. in the lodge hall. The roast chicken dinner will be served promptly at 7 P. M. Ernest Arbogast, recording secretary, said a floor show is scheduled after the dinner is served and Shelling's address.

The Giants are claiming some sort of a record for Ernie Lombardi since their first visit to the Curtis Bay, Md., Coast Guard Station. . . Schnoz kept an entire barracks awake all night with his snoring and teammates claim the bugler quit in disgust in the morning. . . He said Lombardi had a louder bugle than Uncle Sam give him.

Sports Before Your Eyes.

What's this story that L. (Jg) Tippy Dye, now at the North Carolina when Pre-Flight School, is all set to become Ohio State basketball coach when L. W. St. John retires as athletic director and Ole Olsen moves into Saint's job? . . . Ray Dumont gives credit to Father Flanagan of Boys' Town for the success of his nation-wide registration day for would-be ball players, which takes place tomorrow in 7,414 towns. When Ray cooked up the idea he asked Father Flanagan's opinion and back came 124 signatures of kids at the Nebraska institution.

The Athletic Field at Camp Lee, Va., will be named Nowak Memorial Field in memory of Sgt. Hank Nowak, first National Leaguer to make the supreme sacrifice in the war. Nowak, who belonged to the Cards and who pitched for the Camp Lee Travelers in 1943, was killed in action in Belgium.

Durocher Gets in Bad With Radio Rehearsal

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., Feb. 30.—(AP)—Lippy Leo Durocher may face the choice today of continuing as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers or pursuing a budding career as a radio entertainer. Durocher incurred the wrath of Branch Rickey, president of the club, when he left the Dodgers' camp last night to go to New York for rehearsal of a radio program on which he is to appear as guest Sunday night.

NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—Dean Sensebaugher, 19, of Uhrichville, former Ohio State and Army football star, has passed his pre-induction physical examination.

Barney Oldfield, Now 67 Years old, Recalls Thrills

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 30.—(AP)—Barney Oldfield, the bicycle racer who graduated to automobiles and became "The World's Speed King," has reached his 67th birthday. Barney says he had his greatest thrill in 1902 when he drove a car for the first time—and won a race. "I was hired to drive old 999 in a five-mile race," Oldfield recalled. "The 999 had a cross-wise tiller to steer with, instead of a wheel. It looked like a stationary engine of today. It used a gallon of gas for five miles, had no transmission, only a sliding clutch. "They showed me how to drive it the day of the race. I won the five-mile, in 5:28, around 55 miles an hour. Later I drove the 999 to a world's mile speed record in 52.4 seconds."

New Basketball Rules To Curb Substitutions

CHICAGO, March 30.—(AP)—The National Basketball Rules committee, governing amateur teams in the United States and Canada, has adopted a new rule aimed to eliminate the practice of sending in numerous substitutes in closing minutes of games. Secretary H. V. Porter said that under the new rule, effective next season, any player would be barred from reentering a game if he is withdrawn during the last four minutes of play, except in case of a tie. In the games each overtime period will be treated the same as the last four minutes of the second half.

Attack on Ryukyus Goes into 8th Day; More Islands Seized

by "our air and surface units" which have "accounted for" five warships during the past two days, to raise Tokyo's unconfirmed five-day bag to 35 ships. The Tokyo Yomiuri-Hochi said "enemy America" is "coming upon us from all sides with his total power." The broadcasts failed to say if the carrier forces were attacking Japan today. It reported that yesterday 500 carrier planes worked over targets in Kyushu, Shikoku and southern Honshu, while 1300 raided southern Japan the preceding day. The Japanese Domei News Agency asserted that as of March 29 the "Invasion Fleet" operating in the Ryukyu sector is "estimated to comprise about 150 surface

Whitlow Wyatt Bought by Phils

WILMINGTON, Del., March 30.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies have entered No. 8 in their 1945 whippers and peach fuzz docket. General Manager Herb Pennock announced the purchase yesterday of 37-year-old Whitlow Wyatt, who teamed with Kirby Higbe in 1941 to pitch the Brooklyn Dodgers to the National League pennant. Purchase terms were not disclosed, but estimates ranged from $10,000 to $25,000. Wyatt joins two other one-time greats, Jimmy Foxx and Gus Mancuso, as well as holdover veteran moundsmen Bill Lee, Vernon Kennedy and Dick (Kewpie) Barrett.

FAMED PERRY MONUMENT DAMAGED BY TEST FIRING ON LAKE ERIE RANGE

both years there have been more than any other time in the 32 years the monument has been open. At the inside top of the structure, the 24-inch supporting column of one corner of the elevator shaft is cracked through. A big block of granite in the outside parapet is cracked in two. Huge cracks have appeared in the floor of the rotunda, several since the structure was closed to visitors last fall. The metal floodlights of the monument vibrate with each blast of the heavy guns. Approximately 75 percent of all artillery used by the Army is tested at Erie proving grounds. Firing of these guns, ranging from 20-mm cannon to 240-mm howitzers, has been going on day in and day out since the war.

$2,000 DAMAGES STAND
